

The Daily Courant.

Monday, December 14. 1713.

Hague, December 8.

Notwithstanding all the repeated Remonstrances made by the States General to the respective Provinces of this Commonwealth, which are in Arrear to the Danish Troops, they cannot all be prevailed on to discharge the Debt. Wherefore the Danish Troops resolving not to depart this Country before they are paid, continue in the Province of Over-Issel. The Province of Utrecht apprehending those Troops would move into their District to take Quarters there, have at length paid their Part of the Debt: The Province of Zealand, which by its Situation is exempt from the like Apprehension of those Troops coming thither, and which owes them 400000 Florins, wrangle about the true Amount of their Arrears. In the mean while the Subsistance of those Troops comes to 4000 Florins a Day, which is a heavy Expence that must in the End be defrayed by this State: But there are like to be great Disputes on whom this Charge ought to be laid. The Province of Groningen have already protested some time ago, that they will not contribute any thing towards it, because they are not at all indebted to those Troops; and urge, that the Burthen of this Daily Expence ought to be born by those Provinces only which are backward to pay their Arrears. Some Persons have taken it into their Heads, that the said Troops are detained in this Country, under Pretence of not paying them, in Apprehension that there may be Occasion for them. In the mean while the Province of Over-Issel, which is oppressed by their long Stay, has made many Remonstrances to be relieved from them; the last (presented by Count Rechteren) was in very urgent Terms.

The Province of Gelderland first, and that of Frisland since, have made Representations, to be considered by the States General before the military Estimates and Establishments for the ensuing Year are settled. The Occasion given them was this: the Council of State had desired Leave of their High Mightynesses to insert in the said Estimates (commonly called their Petition for the State of the War, three Millions 71514 Florins, borrowed during the War upon the Fund of Contributions which ceased by the Peace. There had been taken up in all on that Fund five Millions 720614 Florins, of which but two Millions 649300 Florins have been repaid: The Reason is, that the State was obliged to apply the Contributions from time to time, especially since the Year 1708, to other Uses, and particularly in augmenting their Troops. Now the abovenamed two Provinces demand, that before the said Request of the Council of State be debated, at least before it be granted, an Account may be given them of the whole Amount of the Contributions levied during the War, and of the several Services to which they were applied, and also of the successive Loans negotiated upon that Fund. The Province of Gelderland require, that in the future military Establishments, Regard may be had to the Remarks they annually made during the War on the Estimates of each preceeding Year; that particular Accoupts be given them of the Expenditure of the Money, of the Recruits, and of the Augmentations of the Salaries of the Civil Employments; declaring that if these Accoupts be refused them, they will make such Dispositions with respect to their own Province as they shall judge convenient. Frisland demands besides, to have the Accoupts of the Duties of Importation and Exportation received in the upper Quarter of Gelderland by the Admiralty of the Maese.

These Symptoms shew, that while we have Peace outwardly, all is not calm within us. In this Province of Holland, some Towns are for taking off the Tax of the Hundredth Penny on Lands, Houses, and Annuities; while others are for continuing that Tax: And 'tis likely the latter will prevail, because of the Necessity of discharging the Load of publick Debts that is upon us.

Hague, Dec. 19. The Letters from the North advise, that the Congress appointed at Brunswick will speedily be opened; the Emperour, the Kings of Denmark and Poland, and the Elector of Hanover, having actually nominated and instructed their Ministers for the said Congress; and 'tis expected the Czar and the King of Prussia will soon declare theirs. As for the States nominating a Minister to go thither, 'tis believed they will govern themselves by what England shall think fit to do, or at least that they will not be hasty in it. Whatever Protestations Sweden has hitherto made, of being determined not to send any Ministers thither but on certain Terms, 'tis thought that Crown will not make so many Difficulties about it, in the deplorable Condition it now is. 'Tis advised from Berlin the 12th Instant, that the Minister of the Czar of Muscovy had presented a Memorial to the King of Prussia, by which his Czarian Majesty requires an Explication and positive Declaration upon certain Contradictory Articles, which he finds in the Treaties made with the Ministers of Holstein and with Prince Menzikoff, before he ratify the Treaty made with the latter. His said Czarian Majesty expresses at the same time his Surprise, that the King of Prussia should have thought fit to enter into so formal an Engagement with the Ministers of Gottorp against the King of Denmark his Friend and Ally, whom his Czarian Majesty cannot abandon if attacked. 'Tis hoped the Court of Berlin will find Means to get handsomely out of this Affair, without coming to try the Fortune of Arms; the rather, since these Advices assure us the March of the Prussian Troops is suspended for some Months, in Expectation that the Congress at Brunswick will find out proper Expedients to satisfy both Parties.
